The LAETO Principle

Children are our future. To make this future worth living for today, LAETO strives to support children from their very first steps in life. A happy and successful future requires a solid foundation: education. It imparts skills and knowledge, creates spiritual and material prosperity, is the basis for progress, and helps create long-lasting value. Unfortunately, not all children have access to education – that's where you can help us to help them.

In partnership with five children's charities around the world, we are able to support projects that specifically promote education. When you purchase a LAETO tube of cream, you get to choose which project you wish to support. Because when you buy one of our products, 1€ goes directly to the children's charity promoted on the label. Simple and transparent.

Why choose LAETO? We are a team of university students from various disciplines that power LAETO with sweat equity – each of us donates our own time to the success of this cause. We are united by the idea of offering children access to education that they may not have without our help. Now, you can join our efforts with the purchase of just one tube.
